

Privacy Statement

Privacy Statement

Lorestan Water and Sewerage Company is committed to protecting the privacy of its website users. To this end, it is committed to complying with the international standards required for data collection and protection.

Viewing the pages of this website does not require obtaining information from users, but in some cases, such as providing services electronically and in absentia, requires receiving personal information of users, and after analyzing the information, these services are provided to them.

Lorestan Water and Sewerage Company, in all these cases, is committed to protecting the personal information of the clients of the website and does not disclose the personal information of its users in any way.

The company considers the protection of your personal information to be very serious and important, and uses security policies and technologies designed to protect your personal information on its website.

These safeguards include the storage, use and dissemination of all your information and prevent unauthorized access to and use of that information.

Please note that some of your personal information is made available to the public when you post a message or article in the Forums or other parts of the Site, and this information may, out of our control, lead to possible misuse and sending of messages. Unwanted by others.

It should be noted that in the links section, there are active links to other websites that belong to other organizations and companies. These websites have their own rules that it is recommended that you read them before using these websites.
